CHARLES SIDNEY ENSIGN, LL.B.

By CHARLES SEYMOUR ENSIGN, JR., A.B., LL.B., of Newton, Mass.

CHARLES SIDNEY ENSIGN, a life member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society since 1892, Corresponding Secretary of the Society in 1898, at various times a member of its Council, and at the time of his death Vice-President of the Society for Massachusetts, died at his home in Newton, Mass., 10 April 1917, in the seventy-fifth year of his age.

He was born at Hartford, Conn., 28 July 1842, the only child of Sidney Ariel and Julia Maria (Brookway) Ensign, and was seventh in descent from James¹ Ensign of Cambridge, Mass., and Hartford, Conn.; through David,² Thomas,³ Moses,⁴ Isaac,⁵ Ariel,⁶ and Sidney Ariel,⁷ his father.

The Ensign family is probably of Frisian or Danish origin, its spurious ancestor in England being, we may assume, one of the early invaders of the British Isles who in the period of the Teutonic migrations settled in Kent. It is likely that he was called Enn, from the name of his former home, a small fishing community on the site of Schokland in the Zuyder Zee, included in the region then known as Frisia and now a part of the Kingdom of the Netherlands. In 1482, on account of the encroachment of the sea, the inhabitants of this little island were ordered to abandon it and seek abodes elsewhere. The son of the invader was doubtless known as Ensing, -ing being an old English term meaning "descended from," which was used later to designate a family or tribe. It is a singular fact that this name kept its original form, with only slight variations in spelling, until after some of the bearers of this surname had migrated to New England. In Hartford, Conn., the name appears as Ensing, the form used by a witness to a will in October 1666 and in the will of James¹ Ensign and his wife Sarah in 1670 and 1676.

Early English records speak of the family as ancient and honorable, but small. Its seat was at Chatham, co. Kent, not far from Canterbury. On the present map of Kent, a few miles north of Chatham, may be found an Easden Wood, and near it is a hamlet or village called Easden, Easden being a contraction from Easingden. It would appear, therefore, that at an early date an Ensing made his abode in a wooded vale, called in Old English a "den." The and thirty others, formed the South, or Second, Congregational Church. He died in November 1678, and in his will bequeathed £8 "towards the building of the new meeting house." His estate was appraised at £729. 2s. 9d., a considerable estate for that period. His wife died in 1678.

His son, David,¹ was born at Hartford in 1644. Like his father he was prominent in church and town affairs, and was chosen chimney viewer, surveyor, and grand jurymen. He married first, 23 October 1663, Mabel² Gunn, daughter of Thomas Gunn of Windsor, Conn., who came from Dorchester, Mass., in 1636; and secondly Sarah (Wilcocke) Long of Middletown, Conn., daughter of John and Sarah (Savage) Wilcocke and former wife of Thomas Long. He was one of the first settlers of West Hartford, whither he moved in 1713, and was a petitioner for the establishment there of an ecclesiastical society, his name standing first on the list of church members. He died 14 December 1737, in his eighty-third year, and was buried in the old cemetery at West Hartford, where his gravestone bears the following inscription: "Here Lyeeth the Body of M^r David Ensign Who Died Decem^r ye 14th 1737 in ye 83^d year of his age."

Thomas² Ensign, son of David, was born 7 December 1668. He married, 1 December 1692, Hannah Shepard, daughter of John and Rebecca (Greenhill) Shepard. He, too, played his part in the affairs of the Colony, holding the offices of chimney viewer, constable, grand jurymen, and surveyor of highways. He died in January or February 1737/8.

Moses² Ensign, the date of whose birth is uncertain, was baptized 29 February 1707/8 in the Second Church at Hartford. He married, 3 January 1731/2, Love Andrus or Andrews, daughter of Thomas and Love (Knight) Andrus, and died 26 May 1751.

Isaac² Ensign, a skilful and noted blacksmith, the recipient in 1779 of a grant of land from the town of Simsbury, Conn., on which he built his blacksmith's shop in 1770-1, and a soldier in the Revolutionary War, was born at Hartford 16 December 1747. He married, 29 December 1771, Laranah Pettibone, daughter of Capt. Jacob and Jennie (Cornish) Pettibone of Simsbury. He was elected in 1773 surveyor of highways and in 1806 was grand juror. He died 12 May 1816, and was buried in the cemetery in Simsbury, where the following inscription appears on his tombstone: "Mr Isaac Ensign was born Dec. 16, 1747 & died May 12, 1816."

Ariel² Ensign was born at Simsbury, Conn., 16 July 1778, and was baptized 21 May 1780. He removed to Hartford, Conn., and was a teacher, merchant, and the compiler of the first directory of Hartford, in 1828. Later he was an editor in New York, where he died about 1844. In 1804 he married Roxey Gilbert of Berlin, Conn., daughter of Col. Seth and Lucy (Kelsey) Gilbert, and a descendant of Jonathan Gilbert, the first marshal of the Hartford Colony and grandfather of Jonathan Belcher, Colonial governor of Massachusetts and later of New Jersey. He held the offices of tutor, fence viewer, collector, and grand juror.

Sidney Ariel² Ensign, son of Ariel and father of the subject of this memoir, was born at Simsbury, Conn., 3 February 1817. He
